

Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (FMNP) Training 2009

The Arizona Farmers' Market Nutrition Program provides vouchers for low-income women, children and seniors to buy fresh, locally grown fruits and vegetables from approved growers at farmers' markets. The goal is to encourage these women, children and seniors to eat more fruits and vegetables, and to support local growers and markets. Growers who wish to participate must attend face-to-face training with a FMNP representative and enter into written agreement with the Arizona Department of Health Services. Market Managers must also be trained and sign a written agreement with ADHS in order for their farmers' market to participate in the FMNP.

Attached is the training schedule for 2009. The training sessions will be held in various locations throughout the state in order to accommodate the most people. All training sessions are open to anyone who is interested in the program, but we ask that you RSVP by phone, fax or email. If no RSVP's are received by three business days prior to the scheduled training, the session may be cancelled.

Further training sessions may be added in response to interest and necessity. Please feel free to contact me if you have special requests or suggestions.
